LOVE MOVES

It finds
children hoping for a warm meal,
mothers determined to meet their
children’s daily needs,
families rebuilding after a disaster,
communities longing for clean water.

It crosses borders,
enters homes and hearts that need it most,
bringing comfort, dignity and hope.

Love moves
so that someone else can hold it, too.

Here’s a collection of gifts
through which love moves.

HOW YOUR GIFT WORKS: The dollar value for each gift is a share of the total donation required. Your share will be pooled together with donations from other donors to achieve the target impact described for each gift. Please log on to worldvision.org.sg/Gifts if you wish to make your donation online via credit/debit card or mail us your completed response form at the back of this Gift Catalogue using the enclosed Business Reply Service envelope provided for donations via cheque/PayNow. Let love move through your gift today!

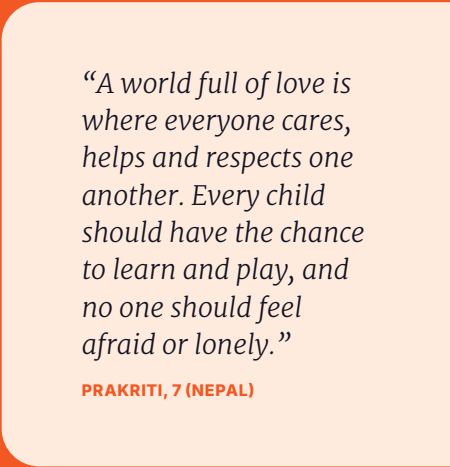

“A world full of love means forgiving each other and understanding each other. It’s a place where children have the right to education and can live safely.”

EAINT MUE ZIN, 10 (MYANMAR)

“A world full of love is just like my happy village where everyone helps each other. Neighbours share fruits and vegetables from their gardens. Children play together under the green trees. At night, when my family has dinner together, I feel loved.”

JARIN, 9 (BANGLADESH)

“A world full of love is where everyone cares, helps and respects one another. Every child should have the chance to learn and play, and no one should feel afraid or lonely.”

PRAKRITI, 7 (NEPAL)

“The world is full of love when we care for one another.”

JHUNBE, 9 (PHILIPPINES)

“A world full of love is one where there is peace. We play, we go to school and we move freely.”

MUSIALELE, 9 (ZAMBIA)

“The world is full of love when every child has a family, friends, teachers, pets and a school to learn and grow.”

REAKSA, 8 (CAMBODIA)

TRANSFORM RURAL COMMUNITIES

LOVE
MOVES so that a child can believe in a future that's theirs.

For children growing up in remote villages, something as basic as clean water, a classroom, or medical care can be a long journey away. Love moves and crosses that distance, becoming a water tap that frees a girl from spending hours collecting water, a wheelchair that gives a child greater access to school, or a school meal that keeps a child healthy and learning.

FAITH IN ACTION

Love moves through a faith that's lived out every day. It stands with the vulnerable regardless of who they are. It goes the distance. It speaks up against injustice. It sees every child worthy of love and protection. It's a love like this that moves us to walk alongside children so they can experience a life in all its fullness.

CRISIS & DISASTER RESPONSE

LOVE MOVES so that even in a volatile world, no child is left to face it alone.

The world saw more state-based conflicts in 2025 than in any year since World War II. Globally, 1 in 5 children are living in or fleeing conflict zones. Disasters are also increasing in frequency, leaving families with little time to recover before the next one strikes.

Yet when someone chooses not to look away, love moves towards those who need it most. It reaches a child in their hardest moment as warm clothing against the harsh winters, life-saving treatment before it is too late, or a safe space to rest, play and feel like a child again.

ID 1986 | SOUTH SUDAN $390

What does hunger look like at its worst? A mother with little left in her own body to breastfeed. A child too frail to play, uncertain if they will make it through another day. Years of conflict and economic collapse have pushed South Sudan into crisis, with 56% of the population now facing severe, life-threatening hunger. It has been made worse by over a million refugees fleeing into South Sudan from the war in neighbouring Sudan, stretching food and resources already running out. Your gift gives depleted mothers back their strength, and malnourished children a fighting chance.

Critical mental health support for 7,000 children and families to cope with trauma

ID 1989 | WEST BANK $420

With more than 1,000 attacks on communities recorded within a year, fear has become a part of daily life for children at home and in school in the West Bank. Around 14,000 children have been displaced, uprooting them from their homes, schools and familiar routines. This gift provides the safe and supportive space they need to process their experiences, express their emotions and begin to heal.

Four rainy seasons in a row have failed Somalia. Over 6.5 million people are left without the crops and livestock they once depended on. Drought-tolerant seeds provide a harvest even when the rain fails. Sorghum, maize, cowpeas, tomatoes, onions, sweet pepper, watermelon: a flourishing variety on the field, a nourishing meal at the family table, and income earned at the market.

Since May 2026, the Democratic Republic of the Congo has been fighting its deadliest and fastest-growing Ebola outbreak. There's no vaccine, no proven treatment for this strain. Conflict and fragile health systems are cutting families off from the care that could save them. More than 3,200 people have lost their lives, and nearly one in three are children. These gifts help contain the outbreak and bring much needed life-saving care to children and families.

DOLLAR MATCH

Empower women with small business loans to recover from the earthquake

ID 2000 | MYANMAR

$300

It's been over a year since the most powerful earthquake in nearly a century tore through central Myanmar, shattering homes, schools and livelihoods. The headlines have moved on, but for families there, the road to recovery is far from over. Damaged farmland, disrupted markets, and rising costs have left many still struggling to rebuild what they have lost. The gift of small loans helps mothers rebuild their businesses and get back on their feet. As each loan is repaid, it reaches the next mother, and the next. A gift that multiplies and rebuilds family by family.

TACKLE URBAN POVERTY

LOVE MOVES so that poverty does not rob children of their chance to learn, grow and just be a child.

A factory is no place for a child. Neither are streets where children face exploitation and harm. Yet for those growing up in urban poverty, survival can mean trading the classroom for a day's wages and carrying responsibilities far beyond their years.

When someone helps lift that weight from a child's shoulders, love moves through the opportunity to return to school, systems that protect them from child labour and exploitation, and support that helps their families build more reliable livelihoods.

SPONSOR A CHILD TODAY

Bun is one of Fynn's sponsored children in Cambodia. In 2024, at just 6 years old, he shared in one of his first letters to Fynn that he used to study in Grade 1. He had stopped because his school was too far away and he hadn't been able to go back since. Today, equipped with a bicycle and school supplies provided through Child Sponsorship, Bun is back in school.

Impact Story: A Family's Child Sponsorship Journey

When Fynn Sor, an educator and mother of three, first learnt about World Vision's Child Sponsorship Programme, its focus on children resonated deeply with her.

"My heart is really in children and education," she shared. "Reading about children not having access to even basic things like food, clean water and education broke my heart."

Raising Children Who Care for Others

Today, Fynn sponsors six children across Cambodia and Mongolia, with her family actively involved in each sponsored child's journey.

Her two older children, Riley and Zachary, each set aside $10 from their pocket money every month. They also write letters to the sponsored children and help pack educational items for Fynn's trips with World Vision.

"I want to raise my children to notice others, to care, to be willing to share what they have and understand that not every child grows up the way they do. I've watched my own children grow more compassionate and aware of the world beyond their own bubble," Fynn shared.

Hope Begins with Love in Action

During one of her trips she made to Sambour, Cambodia to visit her sponsored children, Fynn learned that one of her sponsored children, Bun, had to walk six kilometres each day, barefoot on dirt paths, to school and back, and was often too tired to stay awake in class.

"It broke my heart hearing that," she says. She got him a bicycle and a pair of shoes right away.

She then found out that he wasn't the only child making that journey. With support from her friends and network over social media, she gifted bicycles to 152 children in the village.

"That's love in motion," Fynn reflected. "It moved from a conversation with a mother in a small village in Cambodia, to my heart, to my community back home in Singapore, and then all the way to 152 children."

One of Fynn's sponsored children, Reaksa, shared with her that knowing she had a sponsor who believed in her motivated her to work hard and do well in school.

"Sometimes, simply knowing that someone is cheering them on can give children the confidence to keep trying and work towards a brighter future," Fynn shared.

To anyone thinking about sponsoring a child, her advice is simple: "Just take the first step. We receive so much more in return than we ever give. When I first started, I saw it purely as something I was doing to help. I didn't expect how much joy, and even love I'd receive in return through the letters, photos and visits. Sponsorship changes you just as much as it changes them. Love moves because a small act, from far away, can bring someone hope."

Crisis & Disaster Response

A child is born into a conflict that has stretched on for years. A child's life is upended by disasters striking more frequently, more violently, than ever before. In every crisis and disaster, a child bears the brunt. Your support lets us pre-position relief supplies, strengthen our response capacity, and equip our teams to act swiftly. First in, last out, we stay long after, walking beside communities as they recover and rebuild.

Education Fund

A child can be kept away from school because of poverty, distance, or simply being a girl. Education gives a child opportunity, confidence, and a future shaped by choice rather than circumstance. World Vision supports children at every stage of learning, from early childhood to adolescence, providing literacy support, safer classrooms, and training teachers in pedagogy and more, so every child can access quality education.

Health & Nutrition Fund

A child could live past their fifth birthday, if malnutrition didn't stand in the way. It lies behind nearly half of all under-five deaths worldwide, often alongside illnesses like waterborne diseases that a healthy body could otherwise fight off. World Vision works alongside communities, equipping parents with the knowledge to catch illness early, training health workers, improving access to care, and supporting nutritious food security so every child gets the chance to grow strong and thrive.

Through World Vision's work,
every 60 seconds
... a family gets water
... a hungry child is fed
... a family receives the tools
to overcome poverty.

HOPE, JOY, AND JUSTICE FOR ALL CHILDREN
